4. TECHNOLOGY INVOLVED:

Ruby on rails technology is used in building this large platform. The reason for using Rails is that programming process is much faster than other languages and frameworks, as Ruby is object-oriented.

It's code is very readable and mostly self-documenting, thereby increasing the productivity and making it easy for other developers to pick-up from existing projects for upgradation.

It has very good focus on testing and good testing frameworks. Rails framework helps developers to build websites and applications, because it abstracts and simplifies common repetitive tasks.

This restricts the developer in having to spend a lot of time in configuring files in order to get set up, Rails comes with a set of conventions which help speed up development.

From Project management view, the Ruby on Rails advocates Agile web development; thereby being iterative in its approach and being well suited for web application development with fast changing requirements.

5. WHY REVERSE AUCTION?

Reverse auction takes care of the hard work of finding the right professional freelancers for you, sparing you from days and weeks of scouring the web for the right candidate. With Reverse auction, all you have to do is provide your specifics and they will give you list that is already narrowed down to speed up the selection and hiring process.

The best part is that all professional freelancers in the Reverse auction roster are meticulously tested and screened to ensure that they are indeed experts in their fields. You can also discuss the details of the job with your freelancer. Simply put, when you hire an Reverse auction freelancer, you are working with a total professional who really fits the bill.

This is also a huge benefit for software developers who are seeking opportunities and experience. Reverse auction gives them the venue where they can sell their services, create contacts, gain experience, and boost their careers.

5.1. WHO IS BENEFITTED?

Reverse auction benefits 3 different categories of users: Reverse auctions, Freelancers and Engagement Managers.

Reverse auctions in general being the employer's looking for the right candidate to complete their job needs.

Freelancers or technocrats who are in search for the right job to put their skills to use.

5.2.2 INTERVIEWS:

The concept of managed jobs innovated by Reverse auction reduces the burden of the clients to find the right talent for their job needs. The client simply has to give the details of the project to the team; the team will then personally interview the freelancers of Reverse auction and choose the best according to the needs of the project.

5.2.3 PROJECT MANAGEMENT:

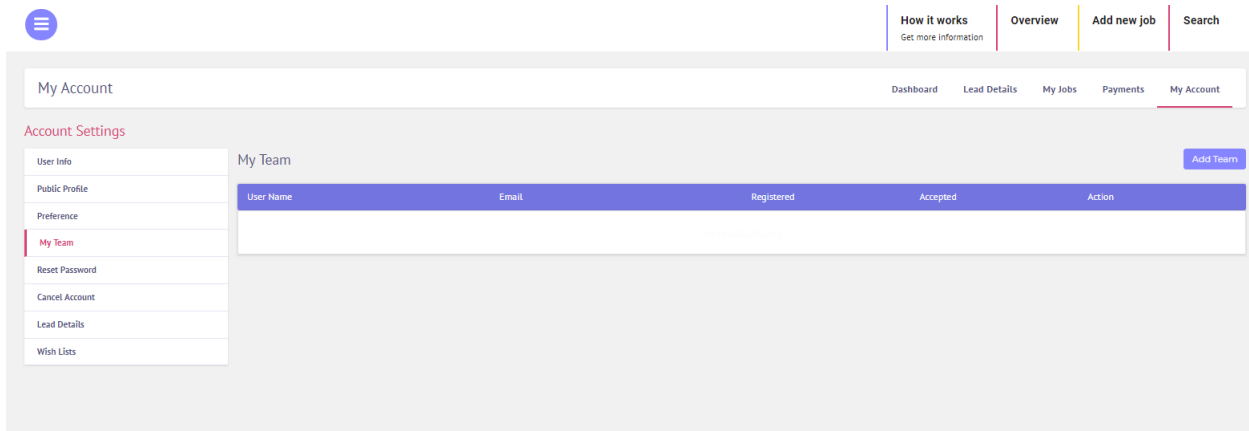

The most concerning issue about freelancing is to get the job done on time, the conventional techniques and existing freelance platforms does not provide any way for the clients to track the progress of their project and makes them totally dependent on the word of the freelancer.

To evict this inconvenience, Reverse auction provides the visibility of the project status and tracking to both the freelancer and client by their project management tool, inbuilt in the site itself along with their profile.

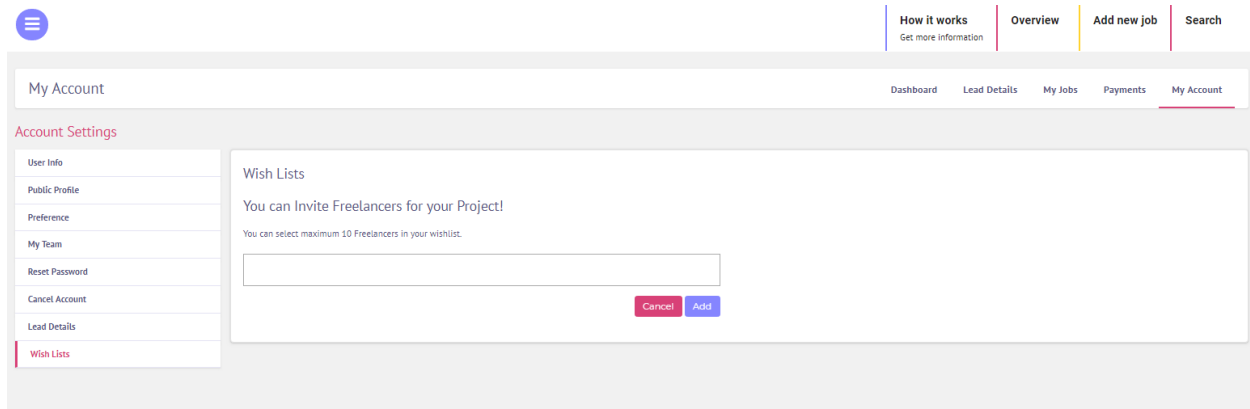

5.2.4 MY TEAM:

We offer you the feasibility to retain the freelancer’s you have worked previously an individual or form a team if you have worked with more than one freelancer. This gives you the ease to contact the right person for the job, than to have to start the search process once again.

5.2.5 WISH LIST:

Clients can also invite freelancers directly to work on their project using the wish list feature. The client can invite upto a maximum of 10 freelancers directly.

5.2.6 MICRO-SERVICES:
